Ma nella Chiesa non si é mai ristretto i compiti di servizio ai soli vescovi, sacerdoti e diaconi. Anche a tutti i laici battezzati, sono sempre state affidate mansioni per la crescita del Regno di Dio. Il campo dell'attività evangelizzatrice dei laici é il mondo della politica, della cultura, del lavoro della comunicazione sociale, ecc. Quindi, tutti noi battezzati dobbiamo prendere coscienza della nostra vocazione e missione e operare attivamente e coraggiosamente da cristiani nel mondo.

In the Church, the ministry of service has never been restricted to only bishops, priests and deacons. To all baptized lay people, the Church has always given various ministries for the growth of the Kingdom of God. The field of evangelizing activities is in the world of politics, culture, social work , communication, etc. Therefore all of us baptized must be aware of our vocation and mission and operate actively and courageously as Christians in our world.

En la Iglesia, el ministerio de servicio nunca se ha limitado a los obispos, sacerdotes y diáconos. A los laicos bautizados la Iglesia siempre ha dado varios ministerios para el crecimiento del Reino de Dios. El campo de las actividades evangelizadoras de los laicos es el mundo de la política, la cultura, el trabajo social, la comunicación, etc. Por lo tanto, todos nosotros los bautizados debemos de estar conscientes de nuestra vocación y misión y operar activamente y con valentía como cristianos en nuestro mundo.

POPE'S MESSAGE

The Gospel... speaks to us about the bond that exists between the Lord and each one of us. In doing so, Jesus uses a tender image, a beautiful image of the shepherd who stays with the sheep. And he explains it with three verbs: “My sheep”, Jesus says, “hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me.” Three verbs: hear, know, follow... First of all, the sheep hear the voice of the shepherd. The initiative always comes from the Lord... his grace: it is he who calls us to communion with him. But this communion comes about if we open ourselves to listen. If we are deaf, he cannot grant us this communion. Open ourselves to listening, because listening implies availability, it implies docility; it implies time dedicated to dialogue. Today, we are inundated with words and by the urgency to always have something to say or do. How often two people are talking and the one does not wait for the other to finish his or her thought, but cuts the other off mid-sentence, and responds.... But if we do not allow another to speak, there is no listening. This is an ailment of our time. Today, we are inundated with words, by the urgency to always have something to say or do. We are afraid of silence. How hard it is to listen to each other! To listen to the end, to let the other express him or herself, to listen in our families, to listen at school, to listen at work, and even in the Church! But for the Lord, it is first of all necessary to listen. He is the Word of the Father, and the Christian is a listening child, called to live with the Word of God at hand. Let us ask ourselves today if we are listening children, if we find time for the Word of God, if we give space and attention to our brothers and sisters, if we know how to listen until the other has finished speaking, without cutting off what the other is saying. Those who listen to others know how listen to the Lord, too, and vice versa. And they experience something very beautiful, that is, that the Lord himself listens – he listens to us when we pray to him, when we confide in him, when we call on him.
